

STEPHY VEE

Hiya, I'm Steph!

My name is Stephanie Vucurovic (but you can just call me Steph) and I am looking to kick start my career in the design industry. My hobbies include drawing and playing video games, and I also love all things creepy and cute.

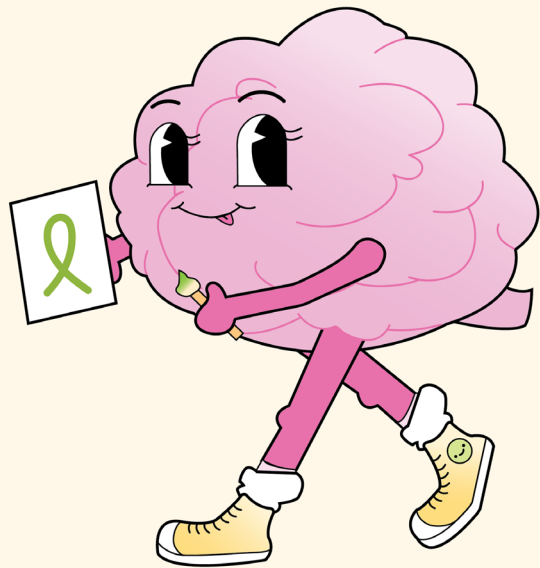

My design style is heavily influenced by Y2K and gaming culture, but I also like to experiment with different design styles. I'm always looking to improve my skills and learn new ones. I have experience with Adobe software including Illustrator, InDesign, Photoshop, After Effects, 3D Substance Painter and Premiere Pro. That's enough about me, I hope you enjoy my portfolio!

A lil' bit

Mental Health Month Poster

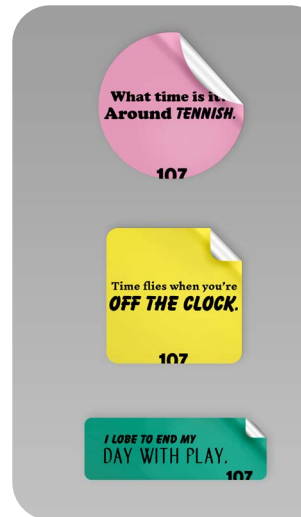

This poster was created for my workplace during Mental Health Month to encourage work colleagues and their families to create art based around the theme of 'moving more for mental health'.

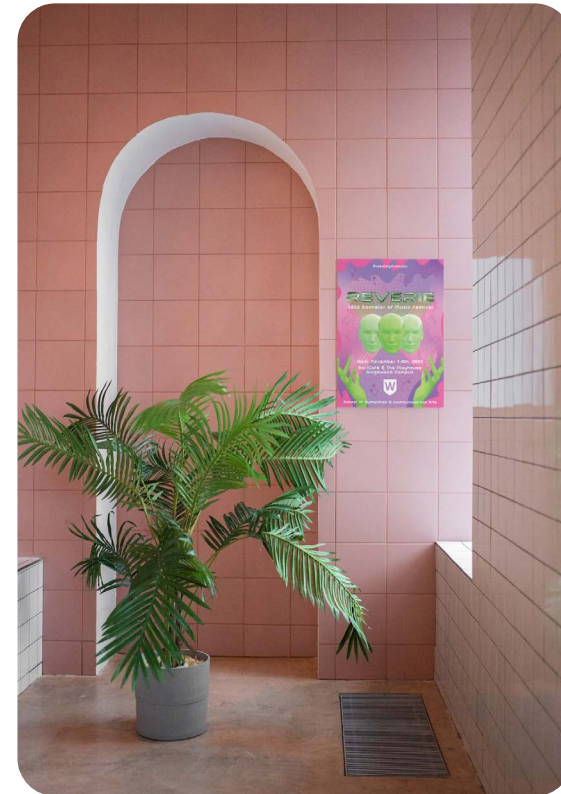

107 Projects Collateral

Collaborators: Susan Alzaim, Caitlin Magnayon, Bronte Perigo, Pamela Vengust, Natasha Kelly Bhullar and Lubaletu Ndibali.

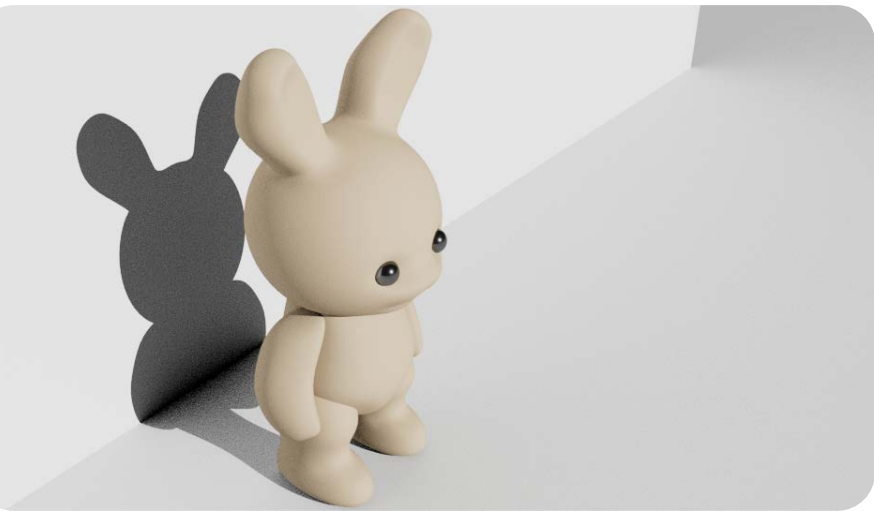

Together we were tasked with creating some campaigns and collateral for 107 Projects new location in South Eveleigh. 'Off the Clock' was an event targeted at office workers that would encourage them to attend workshops after their shifts and '107 Nights' was proposed as a social hangout event.

Bachelor of Music Showcase (Reverie)

In this brief, I was tasked with creating a poster to promote the 2022 Bachelor of Music showcase. 'Reverie' was a brand that I created for the showcase, and It combines a futuristic and Y2K vibe. I also created some spreads that could be used for the program. I modelled the head and hands in Maya and textured them in Adobe Substance Painter. The rest of the elements were created in Adobe Photoshop and Illustrator.

Sylvanian Family Bunny

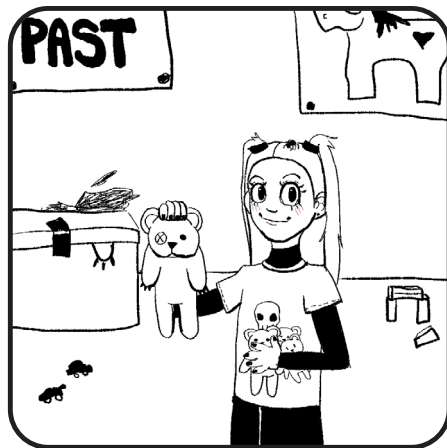

For a 3D modelling assignment we were asked to model household objects, so I decided to model my Sylvanian Family bunny. I modelled it using Maya.

Project Makeover (Clowning Around)

For this brief I had to give a past project a makeover. 'Clowning Around' is a hypothetical family friendly event and I chose to re-do this project as I wasn't happy with the text layout or style. For the makeover, I was inspired by the low-poly characters in early video games, so I decided to design and model my own. I combined elements created in Maya and Adobe Illustrator to create the poster, stickers, tote bags and postcards.

Poster and Illustrations

For an assignment I was tasked with creating some illustrations based around the past, present and future. One of the briefs was to create a poster based on a catchphrase from a particular time. I chose the catchphrase "take a chill pill" as this was one that I heard a lot growing up.

Birthday in the Backrooms

Looks like someone made a cake for you! He swears its fresh and made with love :^).

Made for a 3D modelling assignment where we had to model and texture a scene. Modelled in Maya, textured in Adobe Substance Painter using library and community assets.

University Club Posters

When I was part of the Anime and Gaming Society marketing team I made a variety of posters to help promote the different events hosted.

A beautiful Future

'A Beautiful Future' is a handmade horror pop-up book that I created. The story follows the protagonist Clara, who is obsessed with her beauty and future. She gets her tarot read by a demon disguised as a tarot reader, who tricks and scares her into casting a spell that steals her beauty.

Thank You!
